

LifeSmarts

Learn it. Live it.

Competition 1: LifeSmarts Video Challenge 2015

Team Submission Form

Teams attending the National LifeSmarts Championship will participate in their first competition before arriving in Seattle. Teams will produce a 1-minute educational video about a specific LifeSmarts topic, post it to YouTube, and then market the video to garner views. This activity is worth up to 100 points. This event challenges creativity, promotes teamwork, and requires use of the latest technologies. Teams will complete and submit this form by 5 p.m. Eastern on Monday, March 30, 2015, to tell LifeSmarts staff and judges about their video.

Team Name: Franklin County High School Varsity LifeSmarts Team

State: Indiana

Captain: Mary Pennington

Team Members: Alexa Blessing, Ashlie Raible, Emma Elmore, and Mary Pennington

Coach Name: Diane Slaven

Video Title: Budgeting--Learn it, Live it

Video length: 2:51

Our video is designed to illustrate (20 words or less):

Our video illustrates how to utilize a budget while giving viewers a glimpse into what a LifeSmarts competition is like.

The content vocabulary used in our video includes:

The vocabulary words we used are: budget, income, expense, and future financial goal. They were defined by on-screen text and/or verbally in the "competition".

Something the judges should know is:

We included last year's team t-shirts, our coach, and our school's teachers and faculty (the enthusiastic and sometimes humorous audience!) in the video. This not only made our video special to us, but it also shows the viewers a piece of our community and team spirit.