

LifeSmarts

Learn it. Live it.

Competition 1: LifeSmarts Video Challenge 2015

Team Submission Form

Teams attending the National LifeSmarts Championship will participate in their first competition before arriving in Seattle. Teams will produce a 1-minute educational video about a specific LifeSmarts topic, post it to YouTube, and then market the video to garner views. This activity is worth up to 100 points. This event challenges creativity, promotes teamwork, and requires use of the latest technologies. Teams will complete and submit this form by 5 p.m. Eastern on Monday, March 30, 2015, to tell LifeSmarts staff and judges about their video.

Team Name: 'Iolani Raiders

State: Hawaii

Captain: Justus Wataru

Team Members: Noah Asada, Matthew Azama, Norton Kishi, Bailey Sylvester

Coach Name: James Rubasch

Video Title: Stomp Out Your Carbon Footprint

Video length: 1:15

Our video is designed to illustrate (20 words or less):

How one's everyday actions affect his or her carbon footprint, and what you can do to reduce it.

The content vocabulary used in our video includes:

Carbon footprint, recycling, going green

Something the judges should know is:

We tried our best to have each team member contribute to the video, as well as having our other classmates involved. We wanted to make the video directed at Hawaii and its residents while still being relatable and informative to others.